Downhill 2,923 Meters

It's a race against time, but you must pass through all the gates on your way to the goal. Ski in a crouch to increase your speed.

Super-G 2,423 Meters

In this event, you must strike a balance between speed and technique. Take the most direct course for a better time!

Description of the event

- A countdown begins 10 seconds before the start signal. You can start racing any time after the clock reaches 5 seconds before the signal. You automatically begin skiing if the button has not been pressed 5 seconds after the start signal.
- If you miss a gate you're disqualified. Scores for the Giant Slalom are calculated from your total time after two runs; the Downhill and Super-G are skied only once.
- Skiing in a crouch position reduces air resistance, resulting in a faster speed. But, since increased speed results in sharper turns, you must try to achieve a balance.
- Colliding into the netting along the course and falling will result in immediate disqualification.
- With multiple players, players compete in order, from player 1 through player 4.

Description of the event

- Curling is a competition between teams, high score wins. Here, a tournament is held between four teams, one for each player. When less than four players are competing, the remaining teams will be played by the computer.
- Two teams compete at a time, alternating with one throw apiece. One "end" is completed after each team throws 4 stones (8 total), at which time the team that has placed a stone nearest to the center of the "house" (rings drawn on the ice surface) wins.
- If neither team has a stone left in the house after all stones in an end are thrown, the result is a tie score. If the score is tied after all the ends are played, a sudden death playoff is held.
- Sudden death playoff
Each team throws one stone, the team whose stone is nearest the center wins. This step is repeated until one team is the victor.
- Press the \triangle button after a throw to change the view point to the opposite direction.
- The following settings for curling can be changed in the Options menu.
 - Number of ends
A maximum of 10 ends
 - Playoff method in a tie
Sudden death or extra ends (extended play)
 - Free guard zone rule ON/OFF
When ON, the free guard zone rule applies. This means that stones placed in this zone can not be bumped out by the other team until the first four stones in an end have been thrown. If this rule is violated, the stone thrown is removed and the expelled stone put back in its original position. When OFF, the free guard zone rule does not apply.
 - Number of deliveries (stones)
Can be changed to 4 or 8. Default is 4.

Determining points scored

Example 1

The white team scores 1 point. The black team scores 0 points, because they were unable to place a stone closer than the white team's.

Example 2

Neither team was able to place a stone inside the house. Therefore, no points are scored.

Example 3

Although, the white team was able to place two stones in the house, one is further from the center than the black team's stone and does not qualify as a point. Therefore, white earns 1 point and black 0.
